

Update to the Underside of Your Computer

The following information supersedes that which is contained in the documentation that shipped with your Satellite® M30X/M35X Series computer, and reflects the most up-to-date information for your system.

Please note that the underside of your computer differs slightly from the images or descriptions in the User's Guide or Quick Start Card that shipped with your computer. The fan shown in the documentation is not featured on this configuration.

Sample underside of the computer